Art Unit: 1617

Claims 1-7 are pending in this application which claims benefit of US Provisional Application 60/493,554, filed August 4, 2003.

Applicants' claims are drawn to aqueous herbicidal concentrate compositions (and a method of applying a diluted form thereof, claim 7), comprising glyphosate (monomethylamine or dimethylamine salt; >350 g ae/l) and a surfactant (20 to 200 g/l). The surfactants may be (claim 4): alkylamines/alkyletheramines, quaternary ammonium, alcohol ethoxylates (glycol ethers), alcohol ethoxylate phosphate esters, alkylpolyglycosides (or anionic esters thereof).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the combined teachings of Beestman et al (US 4,159,901) and Pallas et al (US Application 2003/0087764).

Beestman et al teaches corrosion inhibited agricultural compositions comprising glyphosate salts such as the dimethylamine salt (col 10, lines 19-30), in combination with various surfactants within applicants' disclosure (column 3).

Pallas et al teach concentrate formulations of glyphosate salts including the methylamine and dimethylamine salts, at concentrations up to 490 g ae/l (para 123), in combination with a wide variety of amine and quaternary ammonium surfactants and nonionic surfactants as claimed herein.

Art Unit: 1617

One of ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to combine these references in order to obtain the corrosion inhibition of Beestman et al and the high concentrations of Pallas et al in a single glyphosate concentrate.

Thus it would have been prima facie obvious to the ordinary artisan at the time the invention was made to have combined applicants' components in a single glyphosate concentrate composition because each of the components was known in the art of glyphosate concentrates.

No unobvious or unexpected results are noted; no claim is allowed.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
